From the Rabbi...

"Optimism is the belief that things are going to get better. Hope is the belief that we can make things better ... It takes no courage to be an optimist, but it does need courage to hope."

Rabbi Jonathan Sacks, chief rabbi of England 1991-2013

As we enter the year 2022, we will still be facing challenges the like of which our generation has not lived through, it is the Jewish tradition of hope that can get us through such strife. We learn early on that we are commanded to do mitzvot in order to make a better world. That in this world, we must act in order to be the force of hope.

Were we not slaves? Were we not driven out of Spain by Ferdinand and Isabella? Were we not almost wiped out per the vagaries of a mid-20th century despot? Now a virus is coursing through our world, changing the way we live our lives. It is at terrible times such as these that we cling to our faith. That we Jews can turn to Torah for guidance.

As Rabbi Ben Spratt teaches:

"...for each of us, in each place of struggle and trauma, is held the seeds of possibility ... of growing and adapting, and changing ... as

hope is a function of struggle, it is also the means through which we have the courage to create anew."

Seen through today's lens, Vaclav Havel's vision of hope is a prescription to be hopeful. Consider anew what he said, "It's not the conviction that something will turn out well, but the certainty that something makes sense, regardless of how it turns out."

Going through COVID has given us - if we dare to give it a try - a sense of purpose. We keep going, not given any promise of certainty that everything will be okay. But if we just keep going, doing what we must and doing what makes sense, then by this very definition, we have hope.

A perfect example of such thinking is this conjecture put by Rabbi Stephen Lewis Fuchs, "...instead of trying to get back to the old normal, maybe we can embrace the silver lining in the very dark cloud passing over us and create a new and better normal for ourselves..."

No question about it, we are living through a dark cloud. A metaphor that nonetheless contains the simple wisdom to help get us through our difficulties. Because it is the silver lining filled with the good things that have sprung up all around us - neighbors helping neighbors, medical workers going beyond their capacities, the shows of little kindnesses and support - that reminds us we need look no further than Torah itself. As Rabbi Jonathan Sacks puts it, "Judaism is the voice of hope in the conversation of mankind."

Cantor's Corner...

Notes from the Cantor

*Somebody hold me too close/
Somebody hurt me too deep/Somebody sit in my chair/ And ruin my sleep/And make me aware/ Of being alive, being alive. Isn't it rich?/ Are we a pair?/ Me here at last on the ground/ You in midair./ Where are the clowns? Sometimes people leave you/ Halfway through the wood/ Others may deceive you/ You decide what's good/ You decide alone/ But no one is alone. Careful the wish you make/ Wishes are children/ Careful the path you take/ Wishes come true.*

A little over a month ago, the world of musical theater lost a giant. Stephen Sondheim was a prolific composer and lyricist who revolutionized storytelling through the art form, tackling themes and darker human emotions that previous musicals didn't touch, such as loneliness, despair, ambivalence, the artistic temperament, etc.. More complex themes meant braver and more complex music and lyrics such as those quoted above.

Stephen Sondheim was born on March 22, 1930 in New York City to Etta and Herbert Sondheim. He grew up on the Upper West Side until his parents divorced and then lived on a farm near Doylestown, Pennsylvania.

At some point around the age of ten, he was befriended by James Hammerstein, the son of Oscar Hammerstein II who became a father figure to him and cultivated his love of musical theater. Hammerstein designed a four step course for Stephen while he was in High School: 1. Adapt a play that he admired into a musical. 2. Adapt a flawed play into a musical. 3. Adapt a novel or short story into a musical. 4. Write his own musical.

Sondheim attended Williams College where he studied music theory, composition, and harmony. He also later continued his composition study with Milton Babbitt. He later told an interviewer, "You think it's a talent, you think you're born with this thing. What I've found out .....is that everybody's talented. It's just that some people get it developed and some people don't."

Sondheim's first famous musical was his collaboration with Leonard Bernstein on West Side Story in 1957, writing lyrics to Bernstein's music.

The other musical in which he only wrote the lyrics was Gypsy in 1959 to music by Jule Styne. After that, he became a composer as well as a lyricist.

His famous works also include A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum in 1962, Company in 1970, Follies in 1971, A Little Night Music, in 1973, Sweeney Todd: The Demon Barber of Fleet Street in 1979, Merrily We Roll Along in 1981, Sunday in the Park with George in 1984, and Into the Woods in 1987.

Prior to his recent death at the age of 91 Sondheim would go on to win eight lifetime Tony awards, more than any other composer, an Academy Award, eight Grammy Awards, a Pulitzer Prize, a Laurence Olivier Award, and a 2015 Presidential Medal of Freedom. He has theaters named for him on Broadway and London's West End. He would mentor such people as Lin-Manuel Miranda, award winning playwright Lynn Nottage, Jonathan Larson, and many unknowns as well. He is survived by his husband, Jeffrey Romley, and his legacy is revered by all who love musical theater.

From the President...

Dear Friends,

It's hard to believe that 2021 went by so fast. We closed on the sale of the Temple building and set up an office in Short Hills, while Stacie continued her search for our new home. With our fiscal year coming to a close and thinking vaccines were heading back toward normal, we did not want to continue Religious School, Shabbat Services and B'nai Mitzvahs virtually. Stacie was checking all available properties in Springfield and could not find our new home. Thus, we accepted an offer from Congregation B'nai Israel to lease some space. We planned for in-person High Holiday Services only to have the Delta variant throw that plan out. It was great to be in-person for Shabbat services and Onegs plus two B'nai Mitzvah services.

Still unable to locate an appropriate place for our new home, we set up a committee to work on our plan for the upcoming fiscal year. The committee is composed of members representing all the different groups - families with children in Religious School, families whose children are past confirmation age, couples, seniors and singles. Once the Board reviews the options, we will set up a congregational meeting so you can vote on the choices. We are anticipating the meeting will be scheduled for sometime in February.

I wish all of you a safe and healthy 2022.

Shalom,

Edythe

the rooms of our lives...

Designated Funds Form

Through the centuries, Jews have maintained the custom of commemorating occasions of joy and sorrow by making special contributions to their temples. Contributions may be made announcing joyous events, in honor of special occasions, in memory of the departed, or as an expression of sympathy or gratitude. Temple Sha'arey Shalom has established several funds for this purpose. As many congregants may be unaware of the various funds, we have listed them for your guidance,

Payments can be made by Check (made payable to "Temple Sha'arey Shalom" not the individual fund name), also by cash, and mailed to the Temple office. To speed up recognition of gift email the information to Judy Waller at mrlnwaller@yahoo.com
